Auto For Pole Dash.

Automobiles constructed after the order of a motor boat and made to run on land, ice or water will be used by Dr. Frederick A. Cook, of Brooklyn, N. Y., in his expected dash to the North Pole. The machines are being constructed by Dr. Cook's brother, T. A. Cook, of Callicon, N. J.

Dr. Cook became famous through his ascent of Mt. McKinley in Alaska, the highest peak in North America. He believes that the automobile will solve the problem of reaching the North pole.

To Spite A Railroad.

Having quarreled with the officials of the Northern Pacific railroad, Danny Hannafin, a famous trapper and picturesque character of Bismarck, N. D., walked from that place to Minneapolis, Minn., a distance of 435 miles, rather than break his vow never to ride on a Northern Pacific train again.

Due In June.

The thirteen-year locust, which made its appearance in 1894, is due throughout the South next month. The Department of Agriculture is sending to its agents orders to carefully report upon the territory it covers, and other matters of interest. The brood of this year is expected to be large. The first record of it relates to its occurrence in 1803, and it has been recorded every thirteen years since.

Valuable Jack Dies.

A two-year-old jack belonging to T. J. Redmon, of near town, ran a nail in its foot, resulting in lock-jaw and death. The jack was valued at $400.

To Honor Their Dead.

Rathbone Lodge, K. of P., will hold memorial and decoration services at the Paris cemetery on Sunday afternoon, June 9. Uniform Ranks from adjoining towns and the Fourth Regiment of Kentucky will participate in the exercises.

A full attendance is urged for the A. J. Lovely Company meeting tonight to make arrangements to attend the memorial services to be held at Cincinnati on May 30, and drill for Decoration Day, June 9.

"Kicker" Duncan Files Suit.

Former Mayor Henry T. Duncan, of Lexington, filed suit Saturday evening "for himself and all other taxpayers of Lexington" against Mayor Thomas A. Combs, John Skain and Moses Kaufman and the Fidelity Deposit Company of Maryland, in which the plaintiff asks that the defendants be required to pay into the sinking fund of the city $51,564.13, which it is alleged was not paid into that fund, as the law requires, in 1904, 1905 and 1906.

Baccalaureate Sermon.

Elder Carey E. Morgan preached the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of Bourbon College to a large congregation at the Christian church Sunday morning. A special program of music was arranged and very effectively rendered.

Elder Morgan's sermon was an appropriate one, full of encouragement and wholesome advice to the young ladies entering into the more responsible position of life. He counseled them to cultivate cheerfulness, which in its broadest application makes woman beautiful as a social favorite.

Own Your Home.

The object in organizing the Bourbon Building and Loan Association is to assist the medium and poor people to own their homes. If you need assistance to buy or build a home call on Roy Clendenin at the First National Bank and let him explain the plan of this association.

Sermon To High School Graduates.

Sunday evening, June 2nd, the class sermon for the graduates of the Paris High School will be delivered at the Christian church by Elder Carey E. Morgan. The graduates, the junior class, the whole corps of teachers and the Board of Education will attend in a body.

Left As Security.

Finding the corpse of a man in a trunk which was broken open by the police and which had been left as security for a board bill was the un-plesant experience of New York landlady Sunday. The Coroner gave it as his opinion that the man was alive when put into the trunk and that the lid was held down until he was asphyxiated.

Abbreviate Without Periods.

Englishmen visiting this country appear to be much surprised at seeing in the American papers the period after the abbreviations of titles such as Mr., Mrs., Rev., etc. They don't do it that way in the old country. They have dropped the period. A newspaper page with the periods omitted after abbreviations looks odd.

At a meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers, in New York, this week, it was planned to use $1,000,000 to fight "the oppression of the labor unions." It will be used to federate all the manufacturers of the country and to educate employers to present a federated front to the organized forces of labor.

The Humble Mule.

With neither pride of ancestry, nor hope of posterity, and with a pedigree shorter than his ear, the humble mule ascends up the ladder of financial glory ahead of his proud-stepping half-brother, the horse—and that, too, despite the fanciful and fictitious valuations of thoroughbreds and trotters. According to the government bureau of statistics, the average value of the American horse is $93.51, while the average mule calls for $112.

The recent decision in the Court of Appeals in the Louisville election cases, whereby every Democratic official in Louisville and Jefferson county were promptly thrown out of office, should forever close the mouths of Republicans about a partisan Court of Appeals. The decision rendered was as much a blow to Republicans as the Democratic office-holders in Louisville, for the former could not see how such a "partisan court" could hand down such a decision. The opinion was written by the partisan Judge Lassing too, think of it. That is even hard for a Democrat to believe, but it is the truth nevertheless. It shows that we have just judges that compose the bench of our highest court.

This decision is just and righteous, for the rotteness in Louisville politics has long been a blot upon Kentucky Democracy, and it will be of unequal value not only to Louisville but to the Democratic party in Kentucky.

While the News is Democratic through and through, at the same time it holds that a Democratic thief is no better than a Republican thief and just as soon as some of this thieving business is cut out of the Democratic party in Kentucky, just so soon will the party come to the front again with the old time 40,000 to 60,000 majority.

Let every man's vote be counted as cast has always been our contention, and when thugs and bribery win such elections as the Louisville one, we say put such winners out. We do not like anything that smacks of Republicanism, and for this reason we have at all times been against machine politics, and if not stopped in some way, will eventually turn Kentucky over to the Republicans.

We repeat, the decision was just and right, and add that the Louisville gang have only received what was justly coming to them.

The High Price of Life.

There is little reason to doubt, that by following any one of a dozen recipes for long life, one could keep himself on earth a hundred or hundred and fifty years. But in each recipe there is this flaw, that it would worry the life out of a man to observe and obey it. One would have to go about, thermometer and food scales in hand, wholly centered upon himself, and with no time or inclination for the domestic duties or those of friendship. As for fun, there would not be any. There is not anything, not even life, for which one would pay more than its worth. The scientifically correct regimen would mean not a century nor a century and a half of life, but a dreary waste of years, long years of death in life.—Our Country for May.

The Fate Of The Shriners.

The terrible accident at Honda, Cal., by which 32 Shriners lost their lives and as many more were injured, was the culmination of a series of disasters that attended these excursionists along their route. On May 1, the second section of a Santa Fe train filled with Shriners, was ditched near Raton, N. M., and 20 were more or less injured. On May 3, the Overland Limited on the same road was wrecked at Symons, Cal., and 17 Shriners were numbered among the wounded. On May 6, train No. 1, on the same road, was wrecked at Nordbourne, Mo., and on the same day the second section of train No. 8, was ditched at Midway Col., these two accidents causing injuries to 50 more. Then came the terrible accident at Honda, which made the total Shriners killed 32 and injured 109. Truly the Shriners were followed by some terrible nemesis, to suffer such a fate as they did.

Southern Candidates.

Senator Tillman would like to see a Southern man nominated by the Democrats for president, but thinks he will have to content himself with "Culverson, of Texas, Hoke Smith, of Georgia, or Daniel of Virginia" for the second place on the ticket. All of these able and honest Democrats are quite fit to aspire to the Presidency. The nominee for vice-president, should always measure up to the standard fixed for president, for in the future as in the past the vice-president may be called upon to serve as president.

Fairbanks is great on platitudes. He declared lately, in a speech to the cotton mill men, that prosperity will continue if the nation is wise.

If you want fine team, a good road horse, a high actor, all having speed, breed your mares to Sunland Bourbon. It is well known he gets the above kind. A Curious Epitaph.

The following epitaph is copied from a tomb in the vicinity of Port Royal, Jamaica: "Here lieth the body of Louis Cally, Esq., a native of Montpellier, in France, which country he left on account of the revocation. He was swallowed up by the earthquake which occurred at that place in 1692, but by the great providence of God was, by a second shock, flung into the sea, where he continued swimming until rescued by a boat and lived forty years afterward."

A Most Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts from native medicinal roots and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antifermen. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherry bark, Bloodroot, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherry bark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure very severe, obstinate, hang-on, chronic coughs, bronchial and laryngeal troubles and chronic sore throat with hoarseness. In acute coughs it is not so effective. It is in the lingering hang-on coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures.

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago, says of glycerine:

"In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. Holding a fixed quantity of the peroxide of hydrogen in solution, it is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon affected digestive organs, especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (catarrhal inflammation of stomach). It is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many cases of pyrosis (heartburn) and excessive gastric (stomach) acidity."

"Golden Medical Discovery" enriches and purifies the blood curing blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings and old sores, or ulcers.

Sent to Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet telling all about the native medicinal roots composing this wonderful medicine. There's no alcohol in it.

One Question Too Much.

The servant problem was under discussion, and "experiences" were being related. Several women stopped talking at the same moment, and the silence, which had lasted nearly two seconds, was broken by a young matron, who said: "But, ladies, that's all nothing to what happened to me last week. My cook left me, you know, for no earthly reason except that she told the chambermaid we starved the help. The idea! Well, I went to the intelligence office and after a long search found the girl I wanted to take Maggie's place. She answered every question to my satisfaction until I asked her, 'Why did you leave your last place?' Then she got red in the face, threw her head back and said in an angry tone: 'Because I wanted a change. Why did your last cook leave?' And before I could answer she turned away, saying, 'You'll not suit.' Now, isn't that dreadful?" And then all the other women told "dreadful" stories.—New York Tribune.

An Ancient Irish Custom.

In the district known as "the barony of Forth," in County Wexford, Ireland, is to be found a race of hardworking, industrious peasants living in thatched cottages with clean, whitewashed walls which by their perfect whiteness at once arrest the attention of the visitor. These people differ in many respects from the inhabitants of the other parts of the same county and have habits and customs peculiar to themselves. When a funeral takes place two wooden crosses are provided. On the way to the cemetery a halt is made at a certain spot by the side of the road. Here prayers are said for the deceased, after which one cross is deposited in a hawthorn bush or under it. The procession then goes on its way, and after the interment the other cross is fixed at the head of the grave. This strange custom dates from time immemorial, as the great pile of crosses by the roadside indicates.

How to Stop Runaways.

The policeman had stopped the runaway very neatly. Now, though puffing a little, he was quite calm.

"It's nothing to stop a runaway," he said as he wiped his foam-covered hands. "It is like jumping on or off a moving car—dead easy when you know how. What you want to do when you see a runaway tearing toward you is not to stand still, but to run all your might in the same way the nag's a-going. Then, when it catches up to you, you grab the bridle and keep a-running. Then you are not thrown, you are not trampled on, and in a minute or two the horse slows down. I've stopped a dozen runaways without an accident. It's part of our training, and the policeman who would refuse to take a chance would be disgraced the same as a soldier who would refuse to fight."—New York Press.

Waked Him Up.

"Fare!"
The passenger gave no heed.
"Fare, please!"

Still was the passenger oblivious.

"By the ejaculatory term 'fare,'" said the conductor, "I imply no reference to the state of the weather, the complexion of the admirable blond you observe in the contiguous seat, nor even to the quality of service vouchsafed by this philanthropic corporation. I merely allude in a manner perhaps lacking in delicacy, but not in conciseness, to the monetary obligation set up by your presence in this car and suggest that, without contemporing your cleverly with cunctation, you liquidate."

At this point the passenger emerged from his trance.—Columbus Dispatch.

Tree Fountain.

An extraordinary curiosity is to be seen in the Swiss village of Gunzen, on Lake Thun. It takes the form of a natural tree fountain, the water flowing continuously from a spout high up in the tree. About twenty years ago the water from a spring was conducted through shaft, and the supply pipe was directed through the cut trunk of a young poplar tree which was rammed in the ground. After a short time the trunk rooted, branches followed, and now there is a splendid top growth.

Friendship.

Friendship is a vase which when it is flawed by heat or violence or accident may as well be broken at once. It never can be trusted after. The more graceful and ornamental it was the more clearly we discern the hopelessness of restoring it to its former state. Coarse stones, if they are fractured, may be cemented again; precious ones, never.—Landor.

Great Laughers.

The giant laughers have been men—Shakespeare and Rabelais. I do not regard Cervantes and Sterne as laughers. They are smilers. They are not jolly roarers and guffawers. They are not fat, rotund, jovial hilarities. They are thin, lean, ironic smiles. A smile is a diluted laugh. Sterne is a diluted Rabelais.—James Douglas in M. A. P.

Like Talking Shop.

A stockbroker whose mind is always full of business was asked a few days ago how old his father was.

"Well," said he abstractedly, "he's quoted at eighty, but there is every prospect that he will reach par and possibly be at a premium."

A Rebuff.

"Miss May," began Mr. Hoamley, "would you—er—be mad if I were to kiss you?"

"Not necessarily," replied the bright girl, "but I would certainly be mad to let you."

Are we to mark this day with a white or a black stone?—Cervantes.

What a Man's Beard Tells.

"You can tell some of a man's habits and read some of his traits of character from his beard," said the old barber.

"If a man spends his days at a desk beside a window his hair and beard will grow faster on the side toward the window. Plants and beards both flourish under the influence of sunlight. Why, one of my customers found the effects of the side light so pronounced that he changed his office desk to face the window. Another interesting fact is that, when a man is up late or works long hours, he needs a shave oftener than if he took the usual amount of sleep. That's because in being awake he keeps the vital processes of his body in greater activity than when asleep. The growth of the hair depends largely on the circulation of the blood, and the heart slows down when we sleep."—Kansas City Star.

Fog and Sound.

In a fog at sea the toll of a bell buoy is singularly grave and solemn, well matched by the weird note of a whistling buoy. Unfortunately the value of both is lessened in foggy weather from there being but little motion of the sea. Nothing, too, is more difficult than to distinguish in a fog the direction from which a sound comes. This is in part due doubtless to the interference offered to the straight course of the waves carrying the sound, but also probably to the absence of the normal, although unsuspected, co-ordination of eye and ear in locating the origin of sound. The assistance of the eye on sea and land is instinctively given to the ear in many different ways. In a fog the ear has only itself to trust to.—London Spectator.

Death Has Taken Away Mrs. William McKinley.

Mrs. William McKinley died at 1:05 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The transition from life to death was so peaceful and gradual that it was with difficulty that the vigilant physicians and attendants noted when dissolution came.

There was no struggle, no pain. Mrs. McKinley never knew of the efforts made for days to prolong her life, nor of the solicitous hope against hope, of her sister and other relatives and friends, for her recovery.

Mrs. McKinley's last words were for death. An attendant said Sunday night:

"Mrs. McKinley would say, 'Why should I linger?' 'Please, God, if it be thy will, why defer it?' She would also say, 'He is gone and life is dark to me now.' Other kindred expressions fell from her lips."

A TRIBUTE TO MRS. M'KINLEY.

(Written for the Bourbon News.)

Sonnet the First.

The once First Lady lies silent today,
Within her own narrow church-yard bed.
Beside him who was the Nation's head.
Once more the people vent their heart-felt grief
Just as they did when the anarchist thief
Caused the loss of another precious life—
Struck down the husband of McKinley's wife,
And robbed millions of a most loyal chief.
By his merciless missile of death,
America joins today, hand in hand,
Those who are spreading free the floral wreath
O'er the bier of her, dearest in our land,
Who lived in humble Christian faith and true;
Died, as all must die, even me and you.

Sonnet the Second.

Methinks betimes that I would lie at rest
Mid the somber entombments which enshrine
The bodies of those by Death made divine—
Mortals! more fully, eternally blest
Than aught of life's richest, happiest zest
Could make them. As you the blushing rose entwine
In carcanets of love, place one as mine,
For a glad tribute to sweet Peace's quest—
A memory to fellow men who sleep.
As one who has paid the Grim Monster's price,
And sunk to the quicksands of sorrow's deep,
I plead with this, my human, best advice:
Pay the debt—ere Death comes nigh to fill
Our hearts with woe. One wreath for me, if you will.

Editors To Meet At Estill.

D. B. Wallace, editor of the Warsaw Independent, and President of the Kentucky Press Association, has issued a notice of the meeting of the association at Estill Springs on June 17, and lasting three days.

Special rates have been made by the hotel management. The Jamestown trip has been abandoned owing to the inability to secure rates on transportation, and to the necessity for devoting more time to the business sessions.

Judge Cantrill Asked To Resign

Editor W. P. Walton, of the Kentucky State Journal, who has been a life-long friend and supporter of Judge James E. Cantrill, in an editorial in his paper of yesterday calls upon the Scott county jurist to resign as a member of the Court of Appeals.

The Bourbon News contained an editorial on this subject over a year ago, claiming that Judge Cantrill was only furnishing Republican campaign literature by remaining on the bench when incapacitated. We too, have always been for Judge Cantrill, but if he still refuses to resign, his family should force him to for the sake of the party that has honored him for years.

We believe that if Judge Cantrill was at himself he would not hesitate for a moment to vacate the bench. If he was a poor man there might be some excuse for him drawing $5,000 a year for doing absolutely nothing, but being a man of wealth and to still refuse to resign, when every honest and true Democrat knows it is injuring the party more than any other one thing at this time, looks as if his honorable political career will have a close that should be anything else but one of this kind.

Bourbon Live Stock Market Active.

Live stock of all kinds are healthy; thrifty. Hogs have been moving freely, notwithstanding a sharp decline in prices. Shippers Saturday refused offers of fat hogs at 6 cents per pound. Prime to choice hogs are selling at 4 cents per pound, with fancy 1,000-pound average bringing 48 cents. P. Heller, the butcher, bought this week of a Mr. Moffett, of near Millersburg, fourteen 1,000-pound heifers at 48 cents per pound.

Lambs are in fine condition and will begin to find their way to market in from one to two weeks. Fully 75 per cent. of the supply was bought in advance for 6 to 6½ cents per pound. Fat sheep are being sold at 4 to 4½ cents per pound. Mules continue steady, with but few sales being made, while considerable inquiry prevails for mule colts of desirable quality.

An active demand prevails for choice to fancy saddle and driving horses. The following recent sales are noted: Henry Caywood sold to a Mr. Monahan, of Detroit, Mich., a five-year-old fancy saddle gelding for $255, and one saddle and one harness horse to P. J. Davis, of Winchester, for $250 each; G. P. Burns sold to Joel Fessler, of Mt. Sterling, a three-year-old trotting horse for $300.

Clean Up.

Now that there is a prospect for some warm weather, it is absolutely necessary for the health and comfort of our citizens that alleys and back premises be put in a thoroughly sanitary condition. The amount of dirt and filth that is allowed to accumulate in the average back yard is something fearful to contemplate. Our health officials should get busy and make the people clean up. Fevers and other epidemics start from just such gross neglect and we are in a position to suffer from all of them. Better clean up your premises and save future expense, for Dr. Evans has given official notice and he is going to see that it is done.

Mrs. Hoon's Will.

We understand that the late Mrs. Mary C. Hoon left a will leaving all of her property, consisting of her residence on South Main, which runs back to High street, to Mrs. George W. Ellis, not a relative but a lady who has given Mrs. Hoon devoted attention for a number of years. However we presume a law suit will take place before Mrs. Ellis would be able to get possession of the property.

It seems that the will of Mrs. Hoon's mother only gave her daughter a life interest in the estate referred to above. At her death it was to go to Mr. J. T. Hinton, formerly of this city, now of Forney, Texas, and his brothers and sisters. Mrs. Hoon was unaware that she did not own the property in fee simple until about ten days before her death. At that time she sold a lot off of the place, on High street, for $1,000, and when she attempted to give a deed for same found that she could not. It is said she gradually grew worse until the time of her death when she was made known to her. We have not heard what steps are to be taken in the matter.

Capt. Capt. Sigsbee was by Imp. Caledonians, out of Landlady, she by Longfellow, and he had proven himself to be a great sire. He was the sire of Martin Doyle, Cottonwood, Woodsberry and a number of other good race horses.

Simply Couldn't Suppose It.
Scottish folk are proverbially canny and prudent in money matters, and the following shows that the younger generation is no exception to the rule.

A teacher in a lowland school was taking mental arithmetic with a class of boys. She asked one urchin:

"How much would your mother give you to buy four pounds of tea at one and six a pound?"

"We na'er get sae much at once as that, mum."

"Never mind that. Four pounds at one and six?"

"But we canna afford the one and six, mum. We always ha'e the one and twa."

"Answer the question. What would she give you to pay for four pounds of tea at—"

"Nawthin', mum."

"What do you mean by 'nothing'?"

"She'd na' gie' me only bawbees. She'd tell me tae ask the mon tae pit it doon."

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear! But, supposing she did?"

With a pitying smile came the reply, "A man can see y're ne'er met ma mither, mum."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

What Lava Is Good For.

Tourists in Italy are astonished at the practical use made of the lava that has flowed from Vesuvius in past and recent eruptions, for all Naples and its vicinity appear to be a world of lava.

The streets are paved with it. There are staircases and statues, drinking troughs, brie-a-brac and even jewelry of this strange material which once bubbled from the yellow and dripping lips of the great crater above.

The careless guides make money out of it by pressing coins or other objects on partially cooled fragments and selling these to visitors. On the ash-flanks of the mountain there is enough lava to build another New York or Chicago—a shoreless frozen sea, it seems, of dull black that shimmers strangely purple in some lights. These heavy billows and snake-like masses were once white hot, steaming and even exploding as the fiery flood met some little innocent stream on the way down.

Mistakes In War.

In the Bull Run defeat McDowell laid the blame on Patterson. In the battles around Richmond Lee's plans failed on account of Huger's lethargy.

At Pittsburg Landing Grant would have been successful but for Wallace. At Gettysburg Lee's hands were tied by the dilatoriness of Stuart. And so on from the foundation of the world to the present time. It has been said by writers on the art of war that every battle is a series of mistakes. These mistakes are made on both sides and are the cause of victory as well as defeat.

It is almost amusing to think of the numberless good and sufficient reasons that Shafter could have given if he had been defeated in Cuba. If Japan had been worsted in the Russo-Japanese war, one result would have been that Oyama would have written the book of lamentations and execuses instead of Kuropatkin.—Chicago Chronicle.

An Old Time Playful Prisoner.

Over a century ago there occurred in London what the Annual Register called "a most unparalleled atrocity." It was only the theft of a pocket handkerchief from a pocket, but the circumstances of the deed explain the vehemence of this denunciation. Four men were on their trial for assaulting a man in his house at Ponder's End, putting him in fear and stealing from him, and one of them relieved the tedium of the trial, which lasted eight hours, by picking the pocket of one of the turnkeys as he stood in the dock. An official had the presence of mind to order the restoration of the handkerchief, and the prisoner had enough presence of mind to obey "with the most careless indifference," but the court, we read, "were horror struck." Justice, however, pulled it together sufficiently to sentence all four men to death.

Swords and Scimitars.

The scimitar of the Saracens was the most effective sword for cutting purposes ever devised. It will be remembered how, according to the story of Sir Walter Scott's "Talisman," with such a weapon the pagan Saladin chopped a soft cushion in two at one blow, to the amazement of Richard Coeur de Lion. With a straight sword one can make a hack or thrust, but to slice an adversary one must saw with it. The scimitar, being curved and wide and heavy toward the end, slices by the mere fact of striking.

His Scheme Failed.

"I wonder why it is," remarked one of the two men who had just lunched, turning to speak to the other, "that they always have pretty cashiers at these restaurants."

But the pretty cashier, though she blushed and smiled, did not fail to detect the Canadian quarter he threw down in payment of his check.—Chicago Tribune.

Exposed His Hand.

Mrs. Potts—I can't see why you always stay late at your office these nights. I don't see that you gain anything by it. Jack Potts (absent-minded)—That's so, but I won't always be a loser. Luck will change.—Catholic Standard and Times.

His Own Portrait.

Mr. Misfit (savagely)—Before I married you, was there any doddering idiot gone on you? Mrs. Misfit—There was one. Mr. Misfit—I wish to goodness you'd married him! Mrs. Misfit—I did.

Illustrated Bits.

The charity that opens its hand and closes its mouth is the best kind.—Terrell (Tex.) Transcript.

A Hard Debt to Pay.

"I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid off," writes G. S. Clark, of Westfield, Iowa, "for my rescue from death, by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were so seriously affected that death seemed imminent when I commenced taking New Discovery. The ominous dry hacking cough quit before the first bottle was used, and two more bottles made a complete cure." Nothing has ever equaled New Discovery for coughs, cold and all throat and lung complaints. Guaranteed by Oberdorfer, the druggist. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Commencement exercises of the Millersburg Military Institute will open Saturday evening. Program as follows:

Minstrel by cadets at gymnasium.

Sunday morning, 10:45—Baccalaureate sermon at Methodist church by Dr. Gilbert Kelly, of Lynchburg, Va.

Mrs. Willis McVey of Ewing, was the guest of her uncle, Mr. Thomas Jones from Friday till Monday.

Do you know what G. K. S. is? If you do not you had better ask Peale Collier & Co. and find out. They have a fresh supply.

Mr. J. G. Allen, president and F. Hurst, manager and secretary of the Hurst Home Insurance Company returned from Louisville Thursday evening, where they had been for the purpose of organizing a State Association of Kentucky Mutual and Co-operative Insurance companies.

This organization was put on foot by Mr. Hurst about the first of March and in the meeting at the Willard hotel in Louisville on the twenty-second of this month, there were thirteen companies out of a total of twenty-one in the State represented.

They adopted a constitution and by-laws and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Mr. Anton Geistlich, president; P. C. Jessup, of Bowling Green, vice-president, and F. F. Hurst, Secretary.

The Secretary being the most important officer in the organization was given to Mr. Hurst because of his demonstrated ability in the mutual insurance business since he has been at the head of the Hurst Home.

The necessity of this organization is apparent when we notice by the Insurance Commissioner's report that the premiums collected by the Stock and Foreign companies doing business in this state last year, exceeded the amount of losses paid to the policy holders to the amount of about two million four hundred and eighty thousand dollars. The mutual companies keep all the money collected by them in the State, while the foreign companies take away the excess.

The Hurst Home Company under the management of Mr. Hurst has increased its business rapidly in the last three years, and now has a total of over two million dollars of business on its books. The time is rapidly approaching when the people of Kentucky, like the people of Eastern States will carry the greater part of their business without paying the great capitalists a heavy margin to attend their business.

Daughters Of Confederacy.

The last meeting of the year of Richard Hawes Chapter, D. C. C., was held at the court house Saturday afternoon. It was a most enjoyable occasion. Mrs. J. C. Freeman, of the county, was the gracious hostess.

Mrs. J. J. Connell read two poems by distinguished Southern poets. Miss Kate Edgar then read an extract entitled "War's Grim Message."

Delicious refreshments were served, after which the Daughters adjourned to meet the second week of September when the next year's work will be taken up, and preparations made for the State meeting of the United Daughters of Confederacy who will convene in this city Wednesday, October 9th, for a two days meeting. Eighty-two chapters will be represented and it is thought two hundred delegates will be in attendance.

Old Tariman Dies.

Mr. Sam Keene, of Scott county, the oldest turfman in Kentucky, died Sunday night at the age of ninety years. He was upon the streets of Georgetown Saturday transacting business. He passed away as if in sleep.

An Epidemic Of Insomnia.

An alarming epidemic of insomnia and stomach trouble in Kansas would seem to be indicated by the number of certificates filed in order to get prescriptions for whisky or beer filled.

Some 14,000 a month are now being put on record, it is stated.

Why do all cooks and housekeepers prefer to use E. F. Spears & Sons' Red Cross Flour?

Insures Old Honesty.

A. J. Gorey, owner and trainer of Old Honesty, a candidate for the Lataonia Derby, June 10, is not going to take any chances with his colt. He has insured him for $10,000 against accident or death. Evidently Mr. Gorey, who is a former Paris boy, thinks a great deal of the son of Previous Mamie Doyle.

Purchase Restaurant.

"Cracker Jack" Letton and J. S. Snyder purchased "Saturday of T. F. Brannon, his restaurant, on Main street and opened up yesterday ready for business.

E. F. Spears & Sons' Red Cross Flour has no equal. Try a sack and be convinced.

Baptists In National Convention.

The Baptist convention of North America, with the Baptist hosts of North, East South and West, united in national assembly after their separation following disagreements on the negro and other ante-bellum questions more than half a century ago, convened at the Jamestown Exposition today in the first annual session with between 4,000 and 5,000 delegates in attendance.

Germany's Little Emperor.

There is a very general impression in this country that Emperor William, of Germany, is a strapping big blood and thunder sort of man who would rather fight than eat, and who is bristling with ferocity and animal health. On the contrary he is one of the shortest of European monarchs, being only five feet and five inches. He is partially paralyzed down the left side, and his left arm is almost helpless. Partly because he is sensitive over his short height, he is very rarely seen on foot, always riding or driving.

Thos. H. Clay, Jr., Champion.

Thomas H. Clay, Jr., of this county, won the State championship at the tournament of the Kentucky Trap Shooters' League at Lexington, Friday, making a score of 96 out of a possible 100. Jake L. Gay, of Pine Grove, was second, with 93, W. S. Greene, of Lexington, third, with 92, and W. Folk Henderson, fourth with 91.

There were about thirty contestants, Jake L. Gay made the biggest score of the two days' shoot, scoring 368 out of a possible 400, with Clay 362, second; Greene, 353, third, and Henderson, 349, fourth.

Mr. Clay also won the silver berry bowl by a score of 92 out of a hundred.
